Contributing Authors

The following individuals lent their words and wisdom to allow us to give you the best advice possible.

Dakota LeRoy is a UX associate at Liberty Mutual. She is a graduate of Tufts University with a B.S. in Computer Science. LeRoy has been a software engineer for two years and has worked at Medidata Solutions and Cisco.

Salifu Abudulai has been a technical recruiter for 13 years and is currently a talent leader at Github (aka Professional Sourcing Wizard). Abudulai works with developers to find them opportunities at GitHub or a similar company.

Emma Bostian is a software engineer who is based out of Karlsruhe, Germany and who is currently leading a system design at LogMeIn. Bostian is the founder of Coding Coach and is one of the hosts of Ladybug Podcast.

Jorg Stegemann is Managing Partner with Apollo Search, a retained search and leadership consulting boutique firm for international, especially French-German, C-level, and director level assignments.